Daniel gets daily dinner

Pensioner to cook evening meals for homeless man

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A KIND-HEARTED pensioner has invited a homeless man who nobody will help into her home for a hot meal each day.

Daniel Issayu, below, who has spent nearly two years living outside Sainsbury's, was back on his bench yesterday after being discharged from hospital following a 15-night stay.

Daniel, who is from Switzerland and speaks only French, has been given a bag full of medicine to take for his skin infection, but he is unable to read the labels.

Nobody will take responsibility for him because he is believed to be an illegal immigrant. MK NEWS printed an article about Daniel last week.

As a result, Diane Tillyer, 74, of Farthing Grove, Netherfield, has offered to cook Daniel a meal every evening.

She said: "I think it's a disgusting way to be treated. It's all wrong. Nobody should have to live like that.

"I can't believe social services won't help him."

Other readers have offered money, but Daniel has no bank account and is in need of permanent shelter.

Volunteer Dean Burchall and his colleague Ann Cooper went searching for Daniel on July 17 after he failed to turn up at the Open Door homeless drop-in centre in Conniburrow for several weeks.

Mr Burchell said: "When we found him he hadn't been able to move for days. He's still ill and he doesn't even have a coat, only a thin jumper. He has a bag of medicines including co-codamol and dangerous things, which he doesn't know how to take. He's getting no aftercare.

"The hospital threw him out and sent him to the housing office but the housing office won't take him. The social worker said he had a place at the YMCA but the YMCA won't take him. This guy is so happy and loving, even with all the rubbish going on in his life and the position he is in."

Recently the volunteers hoped that because Daniel was in hospital somebody would sit up and take notice of him.

The hospital originally wanted to release him last week with a supply of antibiotics, but decided to keep him in due to concerns about his ability to take them properly.

When questioned by MKNEWS, the hospital said they were unable to comment on individual patients.

The volunteers were hoping to secure a place in an asylum seeker's hostel for him on Wednesday night.

They are now lodging Home Office appeal for help for Daniel, who has been homeless since he was 13-years-old.

Shaping up: Justin Neal and Sioned Parrish-James work on the Griffins restoration

Griffin good as new after lick of paint

ONE of the city's famous pieces of urban artwork has been restored with a lick of paint.

The Griffin, in Eaglestone has been made as good as new as part of a pilot project called ARTiFACTS.

The project gives students and residents the chance to learn from professional conservators and artists the techniques and processes used to conserve aspects of Milton Keynes' cultural heritage.

The project covers some of the public sculptures in the city as well as environmental artworks and plantings managed by Milton Keynes Parks Trust.

ARTiFACTS project leader Justin Neal said: "Our cultural heritage collection is very important to us here in Milton Keynes. It's a collection going back over 30 years from the first concrete and play sculpture created by artists such as Liz Leyh and Bill Billings and Lesley Bonner in the 1970s.

"Famous pieces like the Concrete Cows at Bradwell, the Tin Man on Beanhill, and the Griffin on Eaglestone all form part of a social history of the city."

The 12ft long and 6ft high Griffin was produced by city artist Lesley Bonner in 1983.

ARTiFACTS is a joint project between Milton Keynes Parks Trust, MK Council's Culture Team, MK Community Futures Group, thecentre:mk, students from MK College and Eaglestone residents.

Cabbies overturn wheelchair rule

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

CITY cabbies celebrated victory in an ongoing battle with Milton Keynes Council over disabled access to their vehicles.

Around 60 Hackney Carriage drivers turned out at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court last Thursday in a bid to overturn conditions that meant all taxis must be wheelchair accessible.

Following an appeal by the Milton Keynes Hackney Carriage Association, Deputy District Judge Bal Daliwal ammended council regulations which required every taxi to be wheelchair accessible.

It has left the council paying more than £20,000 costs in court.

Hackney carriages account for around 150 cars operating in Milton Keynes, 71 of which are saloon cars, the rest are London-style black cabs and European-style wheelchair accessible.

In 1998 the Disabled Discrimination Act meant all Hackney carriages would have to be wheelchair accessible but by 2005 the Government had admitted this was not affordable.

In 2001, MKC deregulated the number of vehicles but agreed that they should all be wheelchair accessible.

Since then, trade has reportedly doubled for the taxis and the fleet has increased from 78 to 140.

Each of the new taxis is wheelchair accessible but the cars have been criticised by disabled people who do not use wheelchairs.

People with other disabilities can find it hard to get into the larger-style cars, stating a preference for saloon cars.

In November 2006, disabled groups attended a council meeting to express their feelings and appealed to the council to reconsider the conditions.

When MKC decided not to overturn the conditions, the case went to court.

Bryan Roland, representing Milton Keynes Hackney Carriage Association, said: "The decision means that the 71 appelants can hang on to their saloon cars and Milton Keynes Council will have to re-think it's position.

"If those who are supposed to benefit don't want them, that tells you something."

Cllr Chris Williams, cabinet member for transport, said: "We were disappointed by the verdict. The council is considering an appeal.

Hospital staff told: 'Now wash your hands'

STAFF at the MK Hospital are being told to use traditional soap and water to fight the latest superbug.

Clostridium difficile (C.diff) the organism associated with antibiotic use, has overtaken MRSA in terms of patient deaths, with the elderly most at risk.

At a recent Trust Board meeting, chief executive Jill Rodney said: "In the past MRSA has been the infection to worry about.

"Our staff have been using a cleaning gel to wash their hands but the alcohol gel doesn't work against C. diff so we're going to have to get back to traditional hand washing as well.

"We must make sure these hand-washing facilities are available."

C. diff can be spread by health care workers who have contact with infected patients or by touching surfaces contaminated with C. diff spores.

Disease caused by infection can range from mild cases of diarrhoea to more severe conditions like colitis, bloodstream infections or even death.

Clinical staff at Milton Keynes General are given yearly training sessions on cleaning procedures and are now being encouraged to use soap and water.

Dons hope to avert car parking chaos

Club criticised after Chelsea game but thousands more will watch West Ham

MK DONS will try to ease traffic congestion at the new stadium:mk tonight after fans complained about queues and parking arrangements.

Disgruntled supporters made their feelings clear on Internet message boards following the stadium's first game, against Chelsea XI last Wednesday.

While the team performed on the pitch, the club came in for criticism as cars were stuck in lengthy queues to enter and leave the ground.

Many fans chose to park free at ASDA and walk to the ground, rather than use stadium parking, which has a capacity for 3,000 cars.

Ten thousand fans are expected at tonight's friendly against West Ham, 7,000 more than the Chelsea match.

Dons' chairman Pete Winkelman said: "These are what the ramp-up events are all about, you've got to test things. With hindsight, it was fun with supporters helping out, but it didn't quite work out.

"We will try a different system for the West Ham match and see if that works any better, but we'll keep learning.

"At the end of the day it may take a few goes and if you're a home fan and you live in Milton Keynes, you'll wander around and find your own way to deal with those kind of things, maybe by parking close to the ground."

Post-mortems have been conducted by the Milton Keynes Football Safety Advisory Group, which includes representatives from the club, Milton Keynes Council and the police.

Speaking yesterday, Cllr Chris Williams, cabinet member for transport, said: "We were expecting some teething trouble and we weren't disappointed. We've learnt some valuable lessons.

"Tonight you will see the measures that we've put in place to improve traffic management.

"We want to thank the fans who were there for their patience.

"This was a major first time event and we're grateful to all the people who have participated in the run-through of the procedures for getting people into the stadium."

The safety group decided to ease congestion by opening another entrance, at the rear of the stadium, so that drivers can access the stadium via Saxon Street, but this will be restricted to those with tickets for that side of the stadium.

Staff from a professional car parking company will be used rather than club staff and volunteers and fans will be asked to pay for parking once they are inside, rather than attendants stopping every car along the access road.

Signs indicating 'left-hand lane for stadium' will also save passers-by getting caught in the traffic.

The club will also introduce an online ticket system for fans wishing to book a parking space, with the option to buy a permit for the entire season.

Club officials are also in negotiations with ASDA and IKEA to allocate spaces for any overspill.

Councillors in flagpole furore

A ROW has broken out over whether the Union Flag should be flown from the civic offices.

Milton Keynes Council leader Isobel McCall was asked by fellow councillor Don Hoyle to authorise the flying of the flag, at a full council meeting on July 10.

The flag is also known as the Union Jack when flown on a ship.

Cllr McCall said: "On days like royal birthdays, we do fly the Union Flag. But most of the time we fly the council flag because we are Milton Keynes Council and it's our council building."

The council leader has conducted an electronic ballot on the issue. So far, 30 out of 51 councillors have responded with 16 voting for the council flag and 14 voting for the Union Flag.

But city MP Mark Lancaster has backed Cllr Hoyle's request.

"As someone who has fought for my country I find it deeply insulting that the council should even hesitate in considering flying the Union Flag, he said:

"We appear to be the only nation on earth that seems to be more concerned about political correctness than taking a pride is our national identity."

Cllr McCall said: "We used to have two poles but somehow one developed a nasty bend in it and it was deemed unsafe.

MP Mark Lancaster and Cllr Don Hoyle outside MK Council offices

"Some who voted for the council flag did say that they thought we should fly the Union Flag on special occasions and more often than we do now."

Cllr McCall also refused to contact local businesses who are flying the EU flag to see if they have planning permission. It is illegal to fly the European flag, characterised by a ring of stars, without planning permission.

She said: "I wouldn't want to interfere. If local businesses are proud to be part of the EU and want to fly the flag, they can."

Youth, 17, on market rape charge

A 17-YEAR-OLD boy will appear in court today charged with raping a woman in the city centre.

Detectives arrested the teenager on Friday after a five-day hunt for the attacker.

On Sunday, July 15 a 22-year-old woman reported being attacked in the open market in Midsummer Boulevard after a night out at the Nexus nightclub.

She was walking towards the open air market area at about 4.20am when she was approached by a stranger who pushed her up against a post and raped her.

During the attack the woman cried out for help and her screams alerted a passer-by who rushed over and chased the offender off across the car park at the Point complex.

The city teenager, who cannot be identified for legal reasons, was charged at the police station and will appear at Milton Keynes Youth Court today.

Market in wrong place

SIR – I read your article today saying that the farmer's market was to close.

I thought I'd comment as personally I didn't know about the market until I read about it closing.

What struck me about the closure, was that it really didn't surprise me once you indicated that it was situated in the Theatre District.

This seems rather preposterous, as I very rarely look to buy produce if I'm going for a drink or a meal or going to the theatre.

Why was the market in this area? Why was it not, like in most of the 'quaint' surrounding towns, given the chance to display its produce in the centre, where there is passing trade and people are actually shopping?

I'm sure that with this opportunity, and the far greater pedestrian traffic, there may actually be some custom!

Adam Blacklay
Emerson Valley

... and too expensive

SIR – I would just like to comment on the farmer's market after your report in MKNEWS last week.

I went to the market when it opened on the Easter holiday and I must admit I was disappointed.

Having been to many such markets in various towns I found this one very expensive and lacking in any atmosphere whatsoever, there was a distinct lack of stalls.

I did purchase some honey marmalade from a stall that is also at Wolverton farmer's market, which is small but much better.

I think it was totally in the wrong place, didn't a Farmer's Market used to be in the normal market place on a Thursday years ago?

Not surprised people didn't go as they probably didn't know it was there.

I love farmer's markets and I think most people don't mind paying a bit extra for the quality, but this one was a failure from the start.

Suzanne Croft
Old Farm Park

... and not advertised

SIR – The reason why the Theatre District farmer's market didn't succeed? There was no information about it anywhere!

I went to the first and second ones and thoroughly enjoyed them, and was eager to go to the next one.

However my mind does not absorb information like 'the first Sunday of every month', etc, everything goes down in my diary.

I looked in the local papers for information and couldn't find any.

It's a massive shame that it has stopped, the stalls had more variety than the Stony Stratford and Wolverton markets put together, it was good value and there was a great atmosphere.

Money and effort needs to be put into new projects like this to establish a good base.

How many markets have taken place? Five? Six? Is that enough to establish a tradition?

Victoria Brooks
by e-mail

EDITORS NOTE: Publicity was given in MK NEWS both before and after the first fmarket with details of future dates.

... with miserable traders

SIR – I read with interest your article about the farmers market and

Now here's the situation – wrong price, wrong location

SIR – I always intended to go to the farmer's market, but never did, so I wonder if my views are widely held?

1 - I could not visualise where it would fit as there is no market square in the Theatre District.

2 - I expected it would be too difficult to park as the city is so busy on Sundays

3 - Supermarkets nowadays have more organic, fresh, exciting food than they used to.

How about holding it at The Bowl where there is plenty of parking and people already coming for the car boot sale?

However, if people did initially come in good numbers then stopped, maybe the prices were too high?

Deborah Saunders
Emerson Valley

have a comment to make.

First of all my family and I feel it was hidden away in a poor location between Pizza Hut and Yates's.

People go to this area to eat and drink not to shop at a market, when we visited it was cold and very drafty.

It should be located possibly in Queens Court or nearer to the shopping centre at least.

The people manning the stalls need to cheer up and look more enthusiastic, some of their miserable faces put us off trying anything as tasters or buying any of what looked like excellent produce.

I am sure there is a place in MK for this type of enterprise.

Albert Ebling
Downs Barn

... and we want it back

SIR – Having read your article in MK News last week stating that the farmer's market has closed, I write to express my disappointment..

I was looking forward to visiting the market, unfortunately I was away on the previous dates, so unable to attend.

I'm quite surprised that it wasn't successful as I'd heard good things about it.

It makes a nice change to have fresh produce direct instead of going to the supermarkets.

I would be most grateful if you could convince the market to return on a quarterly basis.

Would it be more successful if it was based in a different location like Middleton Hall, Queens Court or Midsummer Place?

I hope you're successful in restoring it as it would be a shame to lose it.

Jenny Youdan,
Kingsmead

... or maybe not

SIR – I can't say I'm surprised that the MK farmers' market has had to stop, the things on sale were far too expensive.

We took the family there one Sunday and my daughter was going to buy a piece of chocolate brownie until she found out the price – you can make a whole batch of brownies, possibly even two, for what they were asking.

Even the fruit and veg seemed to be double the price of other outlets and the quality didn't seem to be much different.

I don't mind paying a little bit extra for better quality and my husband and I are anxious to support local farmers and good quality fresh food, but we couldn't find anything we would want to buy that actually gave value for money.

I think the stallholders got a bit too greedy, so the shoppers have voted with their feet.

A warning to other markets, I think.

Sue Watkins

Thanks to crash helpers

SIR – I am writing to you about an article that you printed on page 11 of MKNEWS last week about the road crash

First I would like to tell you that I was one of the seven people involved in the incident that happened on Thursday, July 12 at about 4.40pm,.

There were five ambulances involved and at least three people who had to be taken away on back boards, me being one of them.

I cannot stress enough my profound thanks to everyone who helped myself and my family, who were in the black Vauxhall Vectra.

Robert Hull
Bradwell Road, Bradville

The truth hurts

SIR – Your headline (Pickering a two-time loser) regarding Craig's recent performance was completely undeserved.

What gives you the right to intimate that this remarkable young man is a loser?

His focus, determination and drive are well documented and he completely deserves the media attention he has attracted in recent months.

His behaviour has been exemplary, unlike your newspaper's in running such a seemingly defamatory headline.

Craig ran a personal best and also won a gold medal in the relay.

He is an excellent role model for young people, many of whom follow his continued success.

His remarks in the article clearly give an insight into his approach to competition and how his effort is never less than 100per cent.

I suggest you run an apology and learn from his sportsmanship and humility.

Sharing no answer

SIR – Getting the balance right in providing homes for people is critical (Housing balancing act, etc. Letters, July 11).

It is fortunate that the council commissioned an indepth housing needs study on which to base its requirements for the future.

The study was conducted by respected independent experts and is based on extensive fieldwork conducted in MK. It indicates a need for 30 per cent affordable homes with a dramatic increase of 25 per cent to be for social rent and five per cent for shared ownership.

It also shows that, in light of the escalating house prices ,shared ownership is no longer the answer as many people, including families and key workers can simply no longer afford it.

Even a 50/50 shared ownership basis would need an income of £21k per year and the rent would still need to be paid on the other 50 per cent.

The same goes for buying outright – a family would need an income of £42k to afford the mortgage repayments for a terraced home.

The Liberal Democrat cabinet will press on with the 25 per cent for social rent that the housing needs study indicates and which will stand up to appeals from developers. To do any less is to betray the very many people who are desperately need a roof over the heads.

Lib Dem cabinet member for housing
Milton Keynes Council

Post Office proposals

SIR – It is very sad to see that Mr and Mrs Young will have to close their sub-post office at Willen Local Centre later this month, after many years service to the community.

Regrettably they have fallen prey to the same pressures as many thousands of other local post offices around the country.

Last year the Liberal Democrats agreed a number of radical policies to protect and improve the Post Office network.

We would keep Post Office Ltd in the public sector but split it away from the Royal Mail. We would then raise £2 billion from the sale of a minority of shares in Royal Mail and invest this money in the Post Office network.

We intend to fight in every way we can to find a way of keeping a sub-post office at Willen Local Centre.

Cocaine and corruption see ex-cop sent down

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A FORMER Milton Keynes police officer has been sentenced to two years in prison after pleading guilty to charges involving police corruption and possession of cocaine.

An investigation by Thames Valley Police's Professional Standards Department (PSD) led to the arrest of 24-year-old Emma Wheatcroft on August 1 last year.

Wheatcroft, of Barbers Mews, Neath Hill, was convicted of offences relating to misconduct as a police officer, obtaining personal information from a police computer system, concealing criminal property, money laundering and possession of cocaine.

She resigned from the force while under investigation and her boyfriend at the time, Matthew Robert Nyack, was also arrested for his involvement.

Nyack, a 24-year-old estate agent from Lennon Drive, Crownhill, was convicted of conspiracy to supply cocaine, concealing criminal property, money laundering and aiding and abetting misconduct in a public office.

He was sentenced to six years imprisonment at Kingston-upon-Thames Crown Court last Tuesday.

Following the sentencing Deputy Chief Constable Alex Marshall said: "I'm very pleased with the outcome of this case and it should send a very clear message that Thames Valley Police can and will deal decisively with any criminality within the Force.

"The PSD Operations Team conducted a well managed covert operation which has rid the organisation of a corrupt officer and removed a link with serious crime.

"I am encouraged by the fact that the intelligence which started this operation came from our own staff.

"Whilst I believe that the scale of police corruption is very small, we have established methods of obtaining information about police misconduct and have a dedicated team which is tasked with eradicating it totally."

MK LETTERS EXTRA

Letters to The Editor, MKNews, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes MK15 0DU | letters@mk-news.co.uk

MK Rugby club – an alternative view

SIR – I feel compelled to write to you and express an alternative view about the proposed new site for Milton Keynes Rugby Club at Emerson Valley.

The idea that rugby clubs are male-only environments with drunken behaviour and anti-social behaviour is outdated and wholly misguided.

Milton Keynes Rugby Club promotes a competitive sport for all ages and both genders.

The clubhouse is used by families and children alike.

Surely as a 'new city' we should be promoting healthy living and excellent sport facilities for our children?

The rugby clubs provides a place for children and adults across culture, status and class to come together to play a game that we should be proud of.

I seem to remember the nation being very proud when we won the World Cup – Johnny Wilkinson and the England squad evoked national pride and there was a surge in children wanting to play rugby.

How is this going to be achieved if clubs are not given the chance to expand?

If we all have a 'NIMBY' attitude towards change the next generation will not have the chance to make their nation proud.

Jane Holliday
Milton Keynes

■ SIR – I am grateful for the publication of my letter last week concerning the proposed development at Emerson Valley.

I thought it might be helpful to correct a number of misleading suggestions put forward in the letter from EVRAG and their anonymous supporter:

1. The rugby club is not a profit making organisation: it is a registered community amateur sports club and as such forbidden by law from distributing profits. It is not private and we welcome any one who abides by our rules as a member

2. The floodlights are training lights and will be used only on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. In no circumstances will they ever be on beyond 9pm and certainly not late at night.

3. The traffic survey was carried out by an independent consultancy instructed by the council and we cannot see any basis for suggesting that it is flawed.

4. The development is a genuine multi-sport facility and we hope to promote football, athletics, baseball and cricket as well as other sports. We already run fitness classes for children in the summer as well as tag rugby sessions

5. The suggestions that members are dinking until two or three in the morning is simply nonsense and vaguely offensive. In over three decades of operating a bar at Greenleys we are yet to have a complaint from the police.

6. The club's current membership is drawn from all sections of the local community. We have numerous female members (including my wife and daughter) and it is difficult to imagine a more inclusive and welcoming organisation.

The suggestion the rugby club has been arrogant is mind blowing. We have repeatedly invited EVRAG to the current site and offered to meet them to discuss the development. We have received no response.

We are at a loss as to what to do in the face of such conduct particularly given the increasing numbers of Emerson Valley residents now offering us their support.

Again I invite EVRAG to come and talk to us – they might discover that we are not the demons they think we are.

Stuart Benzie

■ SIR – It beggars belief that there are still a small minority of people who believe that the proposals for the new rugby club at Emerson Valley will be a 'privately run rugby club' and that this facility will only be accessible to those who come from the old school network and the rich and privileged. That simply is not true.

Those who are members of the club come from all social backgrounds and the present club has been very successful in recruiting junior and senior players from the most deprived areas of Milton Keynes and it aims to do so in the future on a bigger scale once the club has access to desperately needed facilities such as proper pitches that do not get water logged, effective floodlighting and proper changing room facilities.

As a mother of an Under 11 player, I also resent the perception that some local residents have that the club will become the focus of drunken and debauched behavior. I would invite any of the Emerson valley residents to visit the Greenleys club on a Sunday morning (during the rugby season) and witness the wonderful sight of seeing boys and girls as young as six taking part in a team sport (which teaches them discipline and respect) nd the camaraderie that exists between players, parents and supporters.

Far better this than have these children hang round street corners or play on their Nintendo!

Three lane folly

SIR– Some 35 years ago Watling Street had three lanes and many accidents took place.

The volume of traffic was only a third of today's, Bucks highways removed the road markings after three deaths in a matter of months as it was unsafe.

Chaffron way is a high-volume road but it has been marked as three lanes. As a number of fatal accidents have happend is this wise?

As Chris Williams is responsible for transport will he look at this, or is it one of his bright ideas?

One of Elizabeth Fitch's emaciated dogs

OAP starved dogs

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A PENSIONER has been banned from owning dogs after the RSPCA found her three pets starving.

Seventy-six-year-old Elizabeth Fitch appeared at Milton Keynes magistrates court on Friday charged with failing to provide the necessary veterinary care when the dogs' weight dropped dangerously low.

Prosecuting, Janita Patel told the court that when RSPCA inspector Kirsty Hampton called at Fitch's home, in Bletchley Road, Newton Longville, she found a 12-year-old bitch and two puppies, all severely emaciated.

Miss Patel showed the magistrates photographs of the dogs - their long coats could not hide the extent of their weight loss, their spines and ribs were clearly visible.

During her visit, Inspector Hampton found three empty food bowls and noted that the dogs, called Bess, Franci and Sebb, seemed quiet in demeanour.

The inspector said that when the pensioner filled the bowls with food, the dogs rushed to eat and appeared 'ravenous'.

When Fitch was asked what she thought of their condition she replied: "They are fine, apart from being a bit thin."

She acknowledged that their bones were showing but maintained that she did feed them and said they 'seemed happy'.

Miss Patel said the dogs were taken to Dr Dexter Smith at Midsummer Veterinary Group, while Fitch was interviewed and cautioned.

Dr Smith ran medical tests and concluded that the dogs had not been fed properly for a number of months.

Sebb's weight had dropped to a life-threatening 8.6kg.

Over the last two months in care, with a proper diet, his weight has doubled to a healthy 16kg.

Harriett Mather, defending, said: "Mrs Fitch has acknowledged that the dogs need to be cared for by the RSPCA.

"She says that animals have formed a very important part of her life and she still cares deeply for these animals."

Fitch pleaded guilty to the charge and was banned from owning dogs for five years, fined £150 and ordered to pay costs of £200.

The dogs are now healthy and looking for a new home.

Family of New Year death crash boy too upset to attend inquest

Jordon Lightfoot: Killed on New Year's Day in stolen car crash

THE family of a boy killed in a road collision on New Year's Day were still too distraught to attend his inquest this week.

Jordon Lightfoot, of North Ridge, Eaglestone, was the front seat passenger in a stolen grey Ford Escort which veered off the V8 Marlborough Street, Eaglestone at 7.50pm as it was driven by a 15-year-old boy.

Fourteen-year-old Jordon was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police arrested the driver of the car, who cannot be named for legal reasons. He appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court yesterday for committal to crown court.

The tragedy happened days before Jordan's 15th birthday on January 7.

Coroner's officer Sonia Jackson said: "The family feels today would be too upsetting for them.

"There was a left hand curve in the road and the vehicle lost traction, slid across the grass, and collided with a tree."

At the inquest, consultant pathologist Dr Edward Hunt confirmed that Jordon's death would have been instant.

He said: "He was only a young lad. He showed a number of injuries to all parts of the body, but there were particularly severe injuries to the head and the neck.

"He completely severed his spinal cord. He would have died instantly."

A third boy, who was a passenger in the rear of the car, was cautioned.

Banners adorn the site of the crash, along with photos of Jordan's football team, flowers, and messages.

Woman and baby daughter killed in crash

A CITY woman and her three-month-old daughter were killed in a car crash near Buckingham last Wednesday.

On Friday, Oxford coroners opened an inquest into the deaths of Naheed Iqbal, 28, and her baby Iman Haroon, of Westcroft.

They were travelling in a silver Vauxhall Corsa when it collided with a blue tipper lorry travelling in the opposite direction, at about 2.30pm, close to the roundabout on the A421 between Brackley and Finmere.

The road was closed for four hours while police investigated the collision.

The inquest was adjourned until a later date is fixed.

PARKING PROPOSALS

■ Station Square: due to the need for additional short pick-up and drop-off bays in front of the train station, it is proposed to increase the number of 15-minute drop off bays by removing all the long stay pay and display from Station Square and replacing them with limited waiting bays.

The long stay bays will be relocated to the standard rate pay and display area at the rear of the Silverlink multi-storey car park.

■ Sunday morning restrictions: as some motorists leave their vehicles in CMK following a night out, it is proposed to amend the Sunday morning restriction times in all pay and display parking bays throughout Central Milton Keynes to start from 10:30am.

This will allow people enough time to return to collect their vehicles before the restriction applies.

■ Free weekend parking: drivers have reported confusion as to which area is free and which area remains pay and display at the weekends.

It is therefore proposed that blocks C1(between North Row/Silbury Boulevard) and C4 (between South Row and Avebury Boulevard) will be free on the weekend, and that blocks C2 and C3 will become pay and display seven days a week.

■ Disabled bays at Civic Offices: due to the low occupancy levels of the disabled parking bays fronting the Civic Offices, it is proposed to remove four bays and relocate them on North Second Street and South Eighth Street, where there is a higher demand.

The disabled bays fronting the Civic Offices will be replaced with premium rate pay and display bays.

CITY residents are being asked to have their say on parking.

The cabinet has given the go-ahead to consult on parking in Central Milton Keynes at its meeting last week.

The range of proposed changes is aimed at making it easier and more flexible to meet the needs of those wishing to park in the city centre.

Cllr Chris Williams, cabinet member for transport, said: "Over the past year I have received many e-mails and letters from members of the public about parking in CMK.

"Having taken these on board, we're doing whatever possible to change the current provision to reflect their comments, hence this consultation."

The initial consultation will be followed by a statutory consultation to further resolve any objections and minor changes before necessary Traffic Regulations Orders are made to implement the changes.

The seven week consultation period is due to start at the beginning of August.

Subject to consultation the implementation of these proposals will take place in October.

THE last Aston Martin has rolled off the production line at Newport Pagnell.

Milton Keynes' 50-year association with the car firm ended on Thursday as workers, directors and local dignitaries gathered at the plant.

The final car, a Vanquish S Ultimate Edition, was driven off the line by the longest-serving employee Kenny Clarke, who has been at the factory for 32 years.

Director Kingsley Riding-Felce said the workers should feel proud of all that they had achieved but admitted it was a sad day for Newport Pagnell.

The east side of the Tickford Street site will be redeveloped while servicing of cars will continue on the west side.

MK escapes worst of floods

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE fire service says Milton Keynes was left relatively unscathed after the recent bout of flash floods that have caused chaos in other parts of the country.

One of the worst affected areas in the city was Stony Stratford, where the High Street was closed on Saturday as twelve inches of flood water run down the road.

The surrounding fields were turned into lakes after the Great Ouse burst its banks.

Stony Stratford Cricket Club on Ostlers Lane and those of the neighbouring football club, were swamped with water.

The cricket club's pitch, changing rooms, toilets and garage, and the football club's pitch and clubhouse were all flooded by up to two feet of water.

Flooding also affected one property in Station Road, Woburn Sands, and flood water was reported in Wolverton Road and Sherrington Road, Newport Pagnell.

A joint control unit was set up at MK Police Station to co-ordinate efforts of the police, fire services and the council.

A Bucks Fire and Rescue Service spokesman said: "After the flooding kicked off in Buckingham we were geared up for the possibility of flooding in other areas including Stony Stratford and Newport Pagnell.

"Using the information from the Environment Agency we were able to be in the right place at the right time.

"There was loads of sandbags in Stony Stratford, as people were taking measures to protect their homes."

Malcolm Boscott, senior emergency planning officer at MK Council, said the authority issued 2,000 sandbags and put out 25 'road closed' signs over the weekend.

Sandbags were also issued in Stoke Goldington and Tathall End as a precautionary measure but the area did not experience any problems.

The A422 Buckingham to Stony Stratford road was closed after a man was trapped in a car in flood water just after 3pm on Friday.

A car was also reported stuck on Newton Road, Newton Longville.

Woman who claimed £30k benefits had £14k savings

A MILTON Keynes woman falsely claimed more than £30,000 in state benefits – despite having thousands of pounds of undeclared savings stashed away in tax exempt ISA and TESSA accounts.

Over a period of five years Christine Greaves, 59, falsely claimed a total of more than £33,998.97 in housing benefit and income support, despite having numerous opportunities to declare that she had savings.

Initially she had not declared £8,000, which then grew with interest up to £14,000, while she continued to claim state benefits and did not declare the savings to staff from the Department for Work and Pensions and MK Council.

On Friday she appeared in Aylesbury Crown Court, to admit four counts of failing to declare a change in her circumstances and making false representations.

Ms Greaves, of Rhuddlan Close, Shenley Church End, was given a nine-month jail sentence, suspended for two years and was also ordered to pay £100 costs.

In sentencing, Judge Seddon Cripps said that if it were not for her early guilty plea and the fact that she co-operated with the investigation she would have certainly been facing a prison sentence.

The overpayment consisted of income support of £20,704.92, as well as housing benefit of £13,294.05, between 2000 and 2006.

Making a tax-efficient Will now, could save your family many thousands of pounds in the future.

Increasing numbers of people, including homeowners, business people and investors, have assets that will be affected by inheritance tax upon their death.

The rapid rise in house prices mean that more and more people's estates will pay inheritance tax.

Making a will puts you in control and helps you to provide lasting security for those who depend on you. Without a will, those who depend on you financially may receive nothing, or your bequest may be held for them in trust unnecessarily. This can leave your loved ones having to make a claim to the Court for financial provision and unnecessary inheritance tax going to the Inland Revenue.

Nil rate band discretionary trust wills are of particular importance for married couples and offer great scope to mitigate the impact of Inheritance Tax on your Estate. This tax saving arises by the solicitor attempting to ensure that each spouse utilises their own nil rate band allowance, currently £300,000. A correctly drafted and administered will can offer a potential Inheritance Tax saving of £120,000.

We are experienced in advising clients on reducing the liability to tax on their estates, both through lifetime arrangements and under their wills, and in preparing trusts and other documents. We are happy to work with other professional advisors, believing in a 'joined up' approach to achieve the best results for the client.

We have specialist solicitors available at all our offices dealing with wills, ranging from simple wills for individuals and married couples to more complex wills including inheritance tax planning, whatever your circumstances.

An artist's impresson of the new complex at Bletchley

New leisure centre is set for approval

A MULTI-MILLION pound development to build a new leisure complex and hundreds of homes in Bletchley has moved a step closer.

A detailed planning application for the project – part of the revitalisation of Bletchley town centre – is now with Milton Keynes Council.

The application is to replace the old leisure centre with a new complex and build new homes and car parks.

If agreed, bulldozers will start clearing the land in November ready for work to begin in spring 2008.

The first new homes are due to be built next year and the new leisure complex is expected to open in late 2009.

During this time the old centre will remain open before being demolished to make way for new homes on the site.

Temporary car parking will be provided during the building work.

In April Sport England granted the project £1m and Milton Keynes Partnership has made available a further £3.5m with £4.85m coming from the Department for Communities and Local Government.

The leisure centre will include a 25 metre eight-lane swimming pool with sauna and steam room, 100-station fitness suite and exercise room, a six court multi-use sports hall and gymnastics hall, four squash courts and indoor bowls.

The scheme will also include making the leisure centre more accessible to the disabled with purpose-designed ramps for easy access to the pool and fitness suite.

The area in front of the new complex will become a plaza

Cllr Euan Henderson, council cabinet member for leisure, sports and community services, said: "The swimming pool at Bletchley is coming to the end of its economic life and it is important for the whole area that we invest in a new leisure centre with a modern pool that is less costly to run and meets the needs of people with disabilities.

"An extra benefit is that this development will play an important part in regenerating Bletchley town centre to meet the demands of the 21st century.

The planning application is due to go to full council for approval in September.

No accounting for a fear of heights

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A DANCER'S dream was kept alive at the weekend after she was chosen to perform in the live finals of BBC's DanceX.

Twenty-two-year-old Ife Kuku is one of 14 contestants who have been chosen to star in the finals of the national television show, with Strictly Come Dancing judges Arlene Phillips and Bruno Tonioli.

The two giants in the world of choreography are coming face-to-face across the dance floor as they search for a new dancing and singing group.

On Saturday she was picked to go into Arlene's group.

Miss Kuku, who was born to a Nigerian mother in the UK and adopted at six weeks old by a family from Milton Keynes, became interested in dance when her adoptive family took her to the local dance centre when she was nine years old.

Her love for dancing grew and she soon progressed through three dance schools.

Miss Kuku decided to audition for DanceX because she thought that it would be an opportunity to progress her goals and realise her dream to become an international superstar in the dance world.

"DanceX is a collaboration of everything I love to do," she said.

"I enjoy performing in front of a live audience, I enjoy the combination of commercial jazz and sexy chic and to be in a group is something that I have always aspired to."

Miss Kuku, who now lives in Finchley, north London and works for a chartered accountancy firm, said she is finding the experience of getting this far in the competition overwhelming.

"Each day I wake up and can't believe I have made it this far," she said.

"This has given me a renewed self confidence and I feel like anything is possible."

She said the hardest challenge so far has been dancing in high heels.

"I can't walk in them, let alone dance in them – I look like Tina Turner!" she said.

"I feel like I have overcome my fear of stilettos, platforms and wedges."

DOES your dog have star potential?

Is it white, gutsy, greedy, cheeky and loveable?

Milton Keynes Theatre is looking for a dog to play Tintin's companion in Herge's Adventures of Tintin in October.

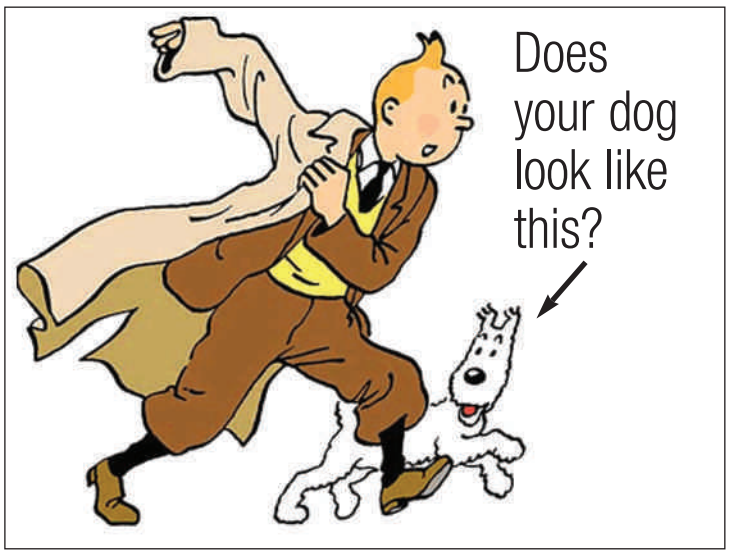
They are holding an online public vote in which the people of Milton Keynes get to choose which dog looks most like Snowy.

Three finalists will then be shown to the director of the show who will choose which one he wants to be in it.

The 'Bone Idol' competition will see one lucky dog starring in the matinee performance on October 11 and attending a press photocall with members of the cast.

Its owner will win a pair of tickets to the show, a signed programme and a winner's certificate signed by the cast.

To enter, take a photograph of your mutt with a digital camera and upload it on the Bone Idol competition page at www.tintintheshow.co.uk.



The producers are looking for a faithful, photogenic, friendly and obedient dog to take part.

Its owner must be available to 'mind' their dog during the performance, arrange their own travel to and from the theatre, and convince all their friends to vote for their pet as the best Snowy lookalike.

Children under 16-years-old must have permission from their parents.

The deadline for entries is September 28.

Owners of dogs that make it into the final three will be contacted by producers.

Herge's Adventures of Tintin is on from October 9 to October 13.

Pointing in the right direction: Tim Lawson, centre front and the rest of the video cast

Club is turned into a film set for pop video

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A NIGHTCLUB was converted into a restaurant for a music video.

Talented teenager Tim Lawson aka F-Tizzle, from Oldbrook, was having the video shot for the first track on his second album on Friday.

Nexus nightclub in The Point was transformed for the day for the £10,000 budget video.

The RnB single, Can't Make That Choice, is about being stuck between two girls.

It will be in shops and available to download online within four weeks.

Tim, 19, said: "It's a real situation people get in. I've kind of been in it, not cheating, but when you're with one girl and you miss another."

A 20-strong crew from London firm SR2 came to Milton Keynes to shoot the video.

The album, titled Re-Introduction, will be released in a month and a half.

Tim filmed another of his singles, Walking in the Rain, behind Midsummer Place in May last year. It was on his 31-track album One Man and his Music.

Tim, who regularly performs at Nexus and who has toured schools in Milton Keynes, said: "The filming went really well, I was pleased. The set was kind of a chilled out restaurant. There was meant to be a scene outside which we couldn't do it because of the weather. But it will be the best video to come out of MK."

The ex-St Paul's student was first noticed when he made the backing beat to a track made famous by Crazy Titchs, a well-respected underground artist. It was called Singalong.

Prior to that he won a talent competition at Stantonbury Campus three years in a row.

He scored a contract with record label ODD Entertainment and has been with them ever since. He visits many musical genres, from classical influenced R&B, through to the more upbeat grime style beats that he is known for.

Tim has performed on BBC 1xtra and been playlisted on Radio One on numerous occasions.

His first UK tour is currently being planned.

City to get more homes for rent

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE opposition parties on MK Council have lost their campaign against a new Lib Dem policy for more homes to rent in the city.

As reported previously the council cabinet agreed a new policy after deciding that the amount of social rented housing needed to increase substantially from the current five per cent.

The Affordable Housing Supplementary Planning Document claims the council will seek a total of 30 per cent of all new build homes to be affordable, 25 per cent of which will be for rent.

The remaining five per cent will be affordable homes to buy.

The proposed increase in rented homes was prompted by the findings of a study of housing needs in Milton Keynes by an independent social research company, Opinion Research Services.

Lib Dem Cllr Irene Henderson, cabinet member for housing, said: "The study is very clear that sky-rocketing house prices have put even shared ownership out of the reach of people on low incomes.

"The only realistic way of providing homes for young people and young families is to insist that developers build more social housing for rent."

Opposition members called in the decision in to be assessed by a cross-party scrutiny committee which met on June 26.

Providing homes: 'The study is very clear that sky-rocketing house prices have put even shared ownership out of the reach of people on low incomes' – Cllr Irene Henderson

Conservative Cllr John Bint, who called in the decision, said he believes the council needs to provide more shared ownership properties rather than houses for rent to allow people to get onto the property ladder.

The scrutiny committee voted for the policy to be reviewed by the cabinet.

Cllr Ruth Jury, who chaired the committee, said: "We listened to all the witnesses and looked at all the evidence and felt there was still some questions that remained unanswered."

Cllr Henderson criticised other council members for not taking enough interest in the policy before it reached scrutiny committee.

"The scrutiny committee is not the right place for committee members to explore the issues they wanted to explore – they are really quite complex.

"This is an example of a missed opportunity to look at some of these issues properly.

"I would love people taking more of an interest in what is going on.

"I circulated the housing needs study to the policy development committee, and most didn't seem to wish to look at it – only two councillors commented."

She added: "A housing needs study is complex; it must meet the needs of the Government and must be robust as developers will challenge the figures.

"We must stick to what is properly evidenced, and properly argued."

She promised there would be an annual review of the report, which was welcomed by the opposition parties.

The cabinet decided to stick with their original decision and agree the policy.

Consultation to start on possible school closures

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CONSULTATION is to go ahead on plans that could see two schools in West Bletchley closed.

As previously reported, parents of Rickley Junior School called in a cabinet decision made at the beginning of June for a twelve week consultation to go ahead on two proposals that will tackle the problem of declining pupils in the area.

They are angry over a proposal to close Rickley Junior School and move River's Infant School to its site, extending the infant school's age range to create a 420 place all-through primary school with designated nursery.

In the initial stage of the West Bletchley Schools review Milton Keynes Council consulted with parents on four different amalgamation options. There was not one to close Rickley Junior at the time.

Parents believe the decision was underhand and collected 200 signatures on a petition.

Milton Keynes Council's executive scrutiny panel decided to refer the decision back to cabinet at its meeting on July 2, which 100 parents attended.

River's Infant School, above, could move to Rickley Junior School site

Cllr Ruth Jury, who chaired the panel, said it believed there should be further consideration into the amalgamation of the schools.

Yet last Tuesday (July 17) cabinet decided to go ahead with its plans to consult on the closure proposals.

A second proposal has also been made to close Wellsmead Junior School and extend the age range of Wellsmead Infant School at the existing junior school site.

It is thought that OFSTED reports have influenced the decision on which schools should close.

Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member for education, said high quality staff would be retained from all four schools: "It is true that successfully joining schools is an art, and it has to be done in partnership. It has been done successfully in Milton Keynes before. The authority will work with the schools to make the changeover as smooth and easy as possible."

She added: "We will only go forward if there is a partnership between the school governors. If this is not evident then I will guarantee my support for amalgamation."

Cllr Andrew Dransfield said: "It matters not one jot if it is the first school taking over the middle, or the middle taking over the first; you need to drop the idea it is one school taking over the other."

The councillors' main argument against the amalgamation route is that it could delay the process, as the decision would go through an independent adjudicator. The closure and extension plans can be decided by the local authority.

Cllr Sandra Clark added: "It is important to provide certainty and stability for staff and parents as soon as possible."

However, Cllr Kevin Wilson said the cabinet's decision will produce more uncertainty.

"You either ought to agree the amalgamation route or stand firm," he said.

"This compromise loses any credibility whatsoever. Now we are going to have six months of campaigning and counter-campaigning. Saying you won't change your mind but might in six months seems barmy."

A CAR burst into flames on Friday morning after colliding with a lorry and van.

The incident occured just after 6am on the A421 between Milton Keynes and Buckingham.

Two injured men were released from the wreckage and taken to hospital.

CHILDREN at a city nursery will be shown what life is like as a lefty.

August 13 is National Left-Handers day and Leapfrog Day Nursery, in Oldbrook, will celebrate by encouraging children to use their left hand for daily tasks, such as drawing, writing, having their lunch and drinking.

Manager Lorraine Harben said: "This is a great way for the children to learn about the issues left handed people deal with on a day-to-day basis.

"The children will be using their left hands to get creative and I'm sure we'll have a lot of fun along the way."

Police seek Polish speakers

CAN you speak Polish? Thames Valley Police needs you.

The force is appealing for Polish speakers from the area to apply to become police enquiry centre officers.

The force has two centres one in Kidlington and one in Windsor, taking 20,000 calls a week.

Graham Brown, head of call handling, said: "We have seen a sharp rise in the number of Polish callers recently and feel that by recruiting Polish speakers we would be improving the service we give to our Polish callers."

Anyone interested in applying for the role can contact 01865 846406.

High flyers: Phill Stocking of Cranfield University and Liam Hallett – the paper plane competition runner up

On a wing and a prayer

CHOCKS away for paper planes.

Visitors to the recent Milton Keynes Science Festival put their creative skills to the test in a paper plane competition organised by Cranfield University last Saturday.

The competition challenged visitors to design and build a plane from A4 recycled paper.

Their challenge was to launch a plane further than the 120ft the Wright brothers managed on their first flight in 1903.

And although nobody achieved this feat, John Beedell managed an amazing 28.2 m (92.5 ft), outstripping the competition by a good few metres. He won a real flying lesson from Cabair, one of the country's top training schools.

Second place went to local businessman Jeremy Chatfield, and third place to schoolboy Liam Hallett. Both won the opportunity to fly virtually in the cockpit of the university's flight deck simulator.

Cranfield University opened its doors as part of the festival to highlight research about the environment and climate change. A steady stream of visitors joined academics throughout the day, attending presentations and demonstrations.

They got hands-on with a number of interactive facilities, including the Soil Net website www.soil-net.com developed by staff at the university's National Soil Resources Institute, and a virtual reality tour of an environmentally friendly airliner.

Community mobilisers – they're champion!

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY volunteer is to bring the Conniburrow community together after the estate was highlighted as an area of concern by police and fire services.

The Milton Keynes Council for Voluntary Organisations (MKCVO) is making efforts to improve the lives of residents of Conniburrow by bringing its community mobiliser service to the estate.

MKCVO is a local charity that aims to improve the quality of life in Milton Keynes by encouraging the development of an involved and active community.

The community mobiliser service, which is in its fourth year, is run partly by funding from the Children's Fund, a Government programme aimed at preventing social exclusion of 5-13-year-olds and their families.

The community mobilisers support children and families to design, develop, commission and deliver projects by helping them to share their ideas, get the skills, money, people and other resources to make them happen.

The service concentrates on the most deprived areas of Milton Keynes, with mobilisers in Wolverton, Fishermead, Bradville, Fuller Slade, Bletchley, Lakes Estate, Greenleys, and Tinkers Bridge.

The service is piloting a new idea in Conniburrow, by using an experienced voluntary member of the community to take on the task.

Josan Race, from Bradville, will be working in Conniburrow as the first 'community champion', supported by the community mobiliser for Fishermead.

Mrs Race, who has been working with the service as a volunteer for more than two years said the community mobiliser service is positive as the mobilisers regularly consult with local people.

Sign of the times: Young people in Bradville involved in the community mobiliser service's graffiti art project, with their designs which will be used to decorate the underpass between Bradville and Stantonbury. The designs celebrate Milton Keynes' 40th birthday

Bradville community mobiliser Kristianne Eley with schools co-ordinator Joanne James,community champion Josan Race and Stantonbury warden Laura Peak

"It is nice to be asked what we want because as a mum I can give advice on what activities and services we need, and what times to do things.

"It is nice to be listened to, and this is why, hopefully, these things can work," she said.

The community mobilisers in Milton Keynes have set up graffiti art workshops on the Lakes Estate and Bradville to give young people a safe place to enjoy urban art, a newsletter to provide residents with a one-stop place to find out what is going on in their area. They also get involved with community events such as festivals.

"We don't have targets and boxes to tick so we can be very flexible in reacting to what the estate needs," said Kristianne Eley, community mobiliser for Bradville.

"We try to empower the community to work on what they want, rather than just coming in and changing things."

"We are also heavily involved with schools, community mobilisers will often spend three days a week in schools in their area, helping out with reading, teaching healthy eating and so on."

Mrs Eley said she believes community champions will play a large role in the future of the service.

"Identifying and training community champions is one of most important things we are doing in our aim for sustainability," she said.

"Community mobilisers cannot be everywhere at once, but the community champions are on the ground in the community the whole time in plain clothes talking to people.

"It will help us get local action groups working, and build up networks.

"It is very much part of our future."

The service is also being extended to provide a community mobiliser in central Milton Keynes, with funding provided by English Partnerships.

Car lover killed on his way to Le Mans

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A BURIAL ground manager has spoken out about the day he was thrown from a car in a fatal accident in France in which he lost his friend.

Warwick Clarke, of West Lane, Emberton, lost his friend Paul Kettley from Towcester in the smash in Rouen on June 15, 2005.

He said the road they were travelling was so wet in the heavy rain that it was 'just like a river'. The car somersaulted four times.

The pair had travelled to France in Mr Clarke's soft top Morgan as part of a group to watch the Le Mans Classic Car event.

It was their eighth annual trip together.

But following a minor accident at a service station on route, the car was immobilised.

Another member of the group, Simon Beadsworth, picked them up in his Jaguar.

But they hit torrential rain and the car lost adhesion to the road.

Mr Clarke, who had offered to sit in the back because he was smaller than Paul Kettley, said: "As we were passing a lorry, the car lost adhesion, I presume it was aquaplaning because I could feel it.

"The road was wet within a few seconds of it being dry.

"There was a huge quantity of water everywhere.

"Simon said 'whoops' or something like that, and that's the last I remember of it until I regained consciousness on the grass embankment.

"Somehow the roof came off and I fell out. I was wearing a seatbelt.

"I could see the car upside down on the carriageway. He was still in it. It was upside down and flat to door level."

Car enthusiast Mr Kettley and Mr Beadsworth were both confirmed dead that day.

Mr Clarke spent two days in hospital with whiplash, cuts and bruises.

After the inquest Mr Clarke said of his friend: "He was a good travelling companion, very relaxed."

Coroner Rodney Corner recorded a verdict of accidental death.

The Ramada Encore hotel in Milton Keynes celebrated its first anniversary in style. More than 200 people attended the swanky event at the hub with a champagne and canape reception followed by a few bets at the casino.

Who moved the goalposts?

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THIEVES have stolen a set of goalposts bought by an elderly villager as a legacy before she died.

The full size posts were stolen from the North Crawley playing fields on June 30.

Due to their size, it is believed the thieves pre-planned the snatch and used a van to take the posts away.

The posts were bought about a year ago and cost £1,500 with money donated by elderly resident Rhonda Pagitt just before she died, together with funds from a committee set up in the 1970s.

Cllr Sam Potts' parents were on the committee, which originally planned to build a play area. They could not raise enough funds and so kept what they had collected in a trust fund.

Cllr Sam Potts said: "The posts were Rhonda Pagitt's gift to the village.It really infuriates me that people are trying to do community stuff and then it is undone by others. Loads and loads of kids used those goalposts, and not just children but people like my brother too and he's 19.

"The goalposts worked so well with the Healthy Schools initiative and all the efforts around keeping children fit.

"These people just have no care for the community. They don't have a thought."

A Thames Valley Police spokesman said: "There was a theft of goalposts worth £1,500 from the recreation ground on Cranfield Road, North Crawley, sometime between 28 June and 2 July.

"It is thought that at least two people with a vehicle would have been needed to take the posts."

Want a Las Vegas-style casino? You bet!

PLANS for a Las Vegas-style casino in Milton Keynes remain intact after the council told the Government it wants to go ahead with the project.

As the Government begins to redraft the plans, which include Britain's first supercasino in Manchester, doubts have emerged over whether 16 smaller casinos will be built.

Last week, those councils awarded licences for casinos were asked if they still want them by Culture Secretary James Purnell.

MK Council leader, Isobel McCall said: "I was sent a letter by James Purnell asking if we wanted to pursue the casino and I wrote back and said yes.

"We are very positive and want to drive ahead with it."

Twelve of the other councils have shown signs of hesitancy during the rethink, with four saying they will put the decision out to consultation again.

Milton Keynes was recommended for a large casino covering up to 1,500 square metres for poker, blackjack and roulette tables as well as up to 150 gaming machines with jackpots reaching £4,000.

The Casino Advisory Panel picked Milton Keynes after a submission from the council highlighted the ambitious growth and regeneration processes the city is currently undertaking to expand its regional role.

COMPETITION

Win cool 'city of dreams' T-shirts

THESE are some of the most important people in Milton Keynes giving a clear message about the city.

MKNEWS dressed up dignitaries including council chief executive John Best and council leader Isobel McCall and asked them to pose for these snaps.

The T-shirts - sold on www.balconyshirts.co.uk - are the product of a competition to design cool t-shirts depicting towns and cities.

Milton Keynes' design was one of the originals made by the company to promote the competition.

The website specialises in 'retro attire for the modern lover' - and claims to be offering some of the 'less celebrated' towns and cities of Great Britain.

Milton Keynes' striking blue t-shirt has a skyline view of houses and trees, surrounded by stars and the slogan 'Milton Keynes - city of dreams'.

Brian Morrison, CMK project director at Milton Keynes Partnership, said: "I'm sure the T-shirts will prove to be popular with our local residents, especially since we are such a vibrant city with a young population."

Horizon Radio DJ Wez Venn was the man behind Leighton Buzzards 'Big name, big fun' design.

He said: "I love Leighton Buzzard to bits but there's not very much fun to be had here. It's tinged with a bit of irony."

The company sifted through more than 500 entries to pick 23 winners.

Other towns and cities lucky enough to have their own t-shirt boast taglines such as 'Devon - we know how they make it so creamy', 'Hitchin is bitchin'', and 'Bogner Regis - the sunshine state'.

Balconyshirts.co.uk say on their website: "We were getting a little weary with those chaps across the pond having the monopoly on location related slogan threads, so we decided to dedicate our new line to the wonders of the British Isles.

"So take a few minutes to bask in the delights of our culturally diverse urban utopias and be proud: who needs to get lucky in Kentucky when you can live your dreams in Milton Keynes? (concrete cows optional)."

The T-shirts are priced at £12.99 each and come in versions for both sexes.

MK NEWS has teamed up with BalconyShirts.co.uk to offer you the chance of winning an exclusive Milton Keynes: City Of Dreams T-shirt.

Thumbs up for Milton Keynes: Tim Boxborough, left, from English Partnership, MK Council leader Isobel McCall and council boss John Best proudly model the 'City of Dreams' T-shirts

HOW TO ENTER

We have eight 'Milton Keynes - city of dreams' T-shirts to give away.

These T-shirts are available in a rather fetching royal blue in both mens and womens sizes.

There have also been a limited number of retro green ringers printed in men's sizes small to XL.

To be in with a chance of winning a T-shirt, tell us what county is Milton Keynes in?

Send your answer, along with your name, address and telephone number to 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, MK15 0DU.

Editors decision is final. Closing date August 9.

Bigging up Ibiza

A SURVEY conducted by Oceana nightclub has revealed customers' clubbing favourites.

The poll of over 1,000 clubbers found that Ibiza was the No 1 resort outside the UK most would choose to visit for the ultimate clubbing experience, with over 62 per cent respondents naming it their top two.

The poll, carried out to launch Oceana's Ibiza Weekender promotion, also revealed customers favourite DJs and all-time club anthems.

Judge Jules topped the poll of favourite DJ's with 45 per cent naming him in their top five. Dave Pearce, DJ Sammy and Roger Sanchez (29 per cent) came in at a close second, third and fourth.

The research has been combined to create a number of club nights in the Icehouse at Oceana that will see the venue transformed into a mini Ibiza every Friday during July and August.

Every Friday customers will also get the chance to win three day clubbing trips to Ibiza and the lucky winners each week get to take a friend as well.

Energy 52's Cafe Del Mar topped the poll as the dance track most clubbers would want to hear on a night out with over 22 per cent naming it in their top five all time classic club anthems.

Other popular choices included William Orbit – Barber's Adagio for Strings, Josh Wink – Higher State of Consciousness, Faithless – Insomnia and Underworld – Born Slippy.

Mark Molton, general manager of Oceana, said: "The poll revealed that Ibiza and everything linked to it including the DJs that play there, the clubs they play in and the tracks they play are extremely popular.

"We have therefore decided to go big this summer by putting on a number of Ibiza-based nights during every Friday in July and August."

"We will also be giving away 'money can't buy' VIP clubbing trips to Ibiza every Friday to give customers the chance of actually experiencing Ibiza for themselves"

The Summer Ibiza Weekender runs every Friday up to and including Friday, August 24.

■ For more information on the Summer Ibiza Weekender contact Mark Molton at Oceana, Milton Keynes or visit www.clubvip.co.uk

MUSIC REVIEWS

I BELIEVE
Simian Mobile Disco

I'VE said it before, and I'll say it again – I'm a sucker for bizarre band names.

Many's the time I've checked out a band's music purely on the strength of their name, because the way I see it , if they've gone to that much trouble on just the name, then think how much effort's gone into the songs.

Admittedly, the theory does fall down sometimes, but by and large it holds true.

So, great name, so that's ticked one box, but what of the song? It's electropop, but good electropop. Oh dear, I'm damning it with faint praise.

Tell you what, let me put it this way, Calvin Harris has put out a couple of singles that pay tribute to the 1980s without quite managing to really capture the thing that made 80s pop music (when it was on form) work so well.

This is the first song I've ever heard from this lot, and they've nailed it in one.

It's just the sort of thing that you might expect to find nestled on Side Four of Now That's What I Call Music 3 (an album so jaw-droppingly 80s the cover featured a pig wearing sunglasses – I kid you not), but it also sounds bang up to date, so it could just as easily make its way onto disc two of Now 67 if it really wanted to.

In other (and fewer) words then, it's great.

IS IS Yeah Yeah Yeahs

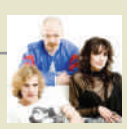
HERE we are in a brave new world where old Billie Piper singles, B-sides and album tracks can all qualify for the singles chart, and the Yeah Yeah Yeahs have still managed to bring out a single that falls foul of what few chart regulations there are left.

Even the digital format doesn't qualify, but it doesn't really matter. There are five new tracks, and the title track itself is only fourth on the list, so really this feels more like a mini-album than a single.

In my opinion, when the Yeah Yeah Yeahs put out a terrible song it's a major surprise because their stuff has been so consistent over the years, but it doesn't sound as though too much has changed since the last album, which is no bad thing. After all, they haven't run out of ideas yet, and this latest batch of tunes veers from bonkers to sinister to reflective to in your face – sometimes during the same song.

If you're thinking of picking this up at a half-decent record shop and you see Down Boy and Kiss Kiss listed, they haven't turned into a Holly Valance tribute band. In fact, the Yeah Yeah Yeahs Down Boy is actually the best track out of the five.

CHARIOTS OF FIRE
BWO



SEEK and ye shall find – I actually looked this one up because I thought it was going to be some sort of trance reworking of the Vangelis tune.

Imagine my surprise when it turned out to be a completely different song. I can't say 'new' because, although it may well have been written recently, it sure as hell doesn't sound like it. In fact, it sounds like an escaped song from way back, when forgettable pop bands like 911, A1, Scooch (first time round) and all the rest were all prancing around the charts

This isn't dreadful, but it's painfully middle-of-the-road, which in some ways is worse because it does absolutely nothing I haven't heard before. To be fair though, the CD does sound amazing when put into a blender, which is a shame as it was obviously intended to be heard in a CD player instead. Ah well, whatever works, eh?

FORGED ART

MILTON Keynes Castle Galleries unveils a masterstroke from Britain's biggest former art fraudster

The gallery, in Acorn Walk, thecentre:mk, is set to unveil The Masters Collection by John Myatt, from July to September.

Myatt was responsible for the biggest art con of the 20th century.

His story reads like the pages of a best-selling novel. He used everything including household emulsion mixed with K-Y jelly on his paintings and eventually one of the copies was valued at Christies whose experts said it was worth £30,000.

At that point his 'legitimate fakes' began to be sold as genuine masterpieces and the artistic crimewae began as John painted his way through 20th century art history.

More than 200 of his copies were sold through leading auction houses in London and New York, under the noses of countless art experts that viewed them.

The law finally caught up with Myatt in 1995 and after a four-year investigation he was convicted for conspiracy to defraud and sentenced to a year in prison where his nickname was 'Picasso'.

These days Myatt spends his time painting his 'legitimate fakes' for the many art fans around the world that admire his work.

The Masters Collection is an entirely legitimate collaboration between this most unusual artist and Britain's leading art publishers Washington Green Fine Art Publishing.

Myatt will appear in a new TV series, The Forger's Master Class, to be filmed in August and broadcast in November on Sky Arts

HEALTHYLIFE

Walk the redways and lose pounds

GET into shape and get walking along the redways.

An appeal is being made to recruit volunteers to help local people enjoy the city's unique pathways.

A number of training days are being held to help volunteers carry out organised walks to promote this low impact form of exercise.

These volunteers are encouraged to organise group walks either at the workplace or for organisations and clubs.

Interested individuals must attend training to qualify as a volunteer walk leader. In addition, after training they can attend a basic first aid course. All this training is provided free of charge.

As part of this health campaign a number of short walks have been put together by Milton Keynes Counci, Primary Care Trust and The Parks Trust under the banner Walk MK.

The walks have been designed across the city, to allow residents to start achieving the healthy recommended 30 minutes moderate activity ,like brisk walking, on five or more days per week.

On the council website www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/sportsdevelopment, a brief description of each route is given with photographs of key landmarks and a simple to follow map. The walk map is available as a leaflet.

Kirsty Heath, Everyday Activity co-ordinator, said: "Walking is an ideal way to improve health for anyone. It requires no equipment or expense and can be built into your everyday routine.

"Being regularly active can halve your risk for coronary heart disease and also reduces your chances of developing type two diabetes."

"A person weighing 62kg would burn five calories per minute if they were walking a mile in 20 minutes."

Health advisers say that by walking for just half an hour a day, three times a week, you will see a remarkable improvement in your personal well-being in a short space of time.

The next training opportunity will be in October but there are limited places so anyone interested should apply as soon as possible.

Call my Sagittarian advice line 09065 504 342 to appreciate why seeing things from a new and less intimate or immediate perspective will help you come to terms with matters that have been eating away at you recently.

Capricorn (Dec22-Jan20)

A stitch in time will save nine and that goes for patching up any small differences you have with a loved one. Call my Capricorn advice line 09065 504 342 to understand why it will become increasingly important to take time out at the end of the month and do whatever pleases and relaxes you.

Aquarius (Jan21-Feb19)

Call my Aquarian advice line 09065 504 342 to appreciate how you will be making new friends and although some changes are in store, by the end of the month everything will seem to click cleverly into place.

Pisces (Feb20-Mar20)
Trust your intuition and get ready for action. At work you'll prefer to remain in the background. You can get on quietly and more efficiently if you don't make yourself too noticeable! Call my Piscean advice line 09065 504 342 to understand why you'd be wise to keep a watchful eye on any youngsters in the family who may be acting as if they are invincible and can't put a foot wrong and why shopping for luxury items will be good for you over the weekend.

Top students play their ACEs at learning awards ceremony

EDUCATION can unlock the door to greater career and personal success is the message from the annual ACE awards.

The awards, sponsored by Marshalls Amplification, MK College and MK NEWS, recognises outstanding achievements by students pursuing qualifications as part of the subjects offered by the Adult Continuing Education (ACE) service run by Milton Keynes Council (MKC).

And recently 18 students were praised for their achievements at an awards ceremony held in central Milton Keynes at the Church of Christ the Cornerstone.

Winners were: Xhemal Mytari and Dagmar Loe (English language), Gertie Perrin (arts and crafts) , Katrina Tyrell (book-keeping), Tim Barringer (literacy) , Patricia Browne (Russian) , Katiuscia Cancedda (performing arts) , Sophie Overend (IT and Conflict Management), Elizabeth Green (Maths), Emma Taylor and Carl Rome (Computers), Peter Lovell (teaching course for building trade), and MacIntyre Basic Numeracy group (Ben, Darren, Keryn, Lucie, Rachel and Tom).

Winners all: Adult learners at the recent awards ceremony at the Church of Christ the Cornerstone

The students were all nominated for their commitment as well as in some cases students overcoming specific hurdles to learning.

These problems included one student, Patricia Browne, who did not let a broken leg and a plaster cast stop her from going to lessons and taking an exam in GCSE Russian.

Speaking at the awards, Vanessa Gwynn, MKC director of learning and development, highlighted the value of continuous learning and the life chances it offers, irrespective of age.

While council ACE curriculum coordinator, Yvonne Elliott, said: "Adults return to learning for many different reasons and we offer courses for leisure as well as courses leading to examinations.

"These awards recognise those students that have gone the extra mile while attending at an ACE course."

This year more than 7,000 students are taking the first steps to begin learning at more than 50 venues in Milton Keynes and for many this will be the first time they have stepped into a classroom since their school-days.

As part of the service students are invited to apply to join the Learners Forum that help shape the way the service is run by collecting feedback from other students and shortlists the annual ACE nominations.

ACE courses are available to everyone over 16 and combine a host of learning opportunities covering topics as diverse as computing to learning a new language.

The service also offers a number of vocational and leisure courses ranging from acting and golf to card making and cookery classes.

There are also a number of courses that can lead to formal workplace qualifications such as NVQs.

The new Autumn term starts from Monday, September 17.

Cllr Euan Henderson, council cabinet member responsible for lifelong learning, said: "Over the years ACE courses have proved to be an ideal way for adults with full time jobs to continue learning.

"For many the service has also proved to be an inspiration for pursuing many exciting and fulfilling leisure and hobby activities.

"These awards just go to highlight the success and continuing popularity of the service."

Many courses offer reduced fees for young people or adults on income-based benefits. There are also a number of easy payment terms such as instalments.

For those people on low incomes the service offers free childcare and contributions towards travel and material costs.

Adult Continuing Education (ACE) is part of Milton Keynes Council's Learning and Development Directorate.

■ For further information about ACE courses call 01908 556700, for enrolment call 0845 603 2702, or go to www.mkweb.co.uk/ace

We take pride in the quality of our work and our attention to customer service is second to none. Our business interests include private contracting for residential and commercial clients, joinery and premium quality residential development.

6. There is always a sympathetic ear even when the going gets bumpy.

There are many more that I could list. But now, because we are expanding, we need to find people for three positions.

Factory man on the spot

Spot on: Danny Dyer practises pens at the stadium:mk

FOOTBALL legends and television stars will grace Milton Keynes this Sunday as they take part in the Alan Ball Memorial Cup at MK Dons' stadium:mk.

One of the stars taking place in the game is actor Danny Dyer, he will line up in the England Legends side as they take on The World.

Yesterday Dyer, on his 30th birthday, visited the stadium to practice penalties with Dons defender Dean Lewington and goal keeper Ademole Bankole.

MK NEWS caught up with Dyer to find out how he was feeling ahead of the big event, he said: "I'm over the moon, it's come around quite quickly, I knew about this a couple of months ago and all of a sudden it's upon us. I'm scared, nervous, I just want to do it justice."

Dyer, a die-hard West Ham fan, is no stranger to the game having starred in the films Football Factory and Mean Machine. He has also been involved in previous charity games and admits he cannot wait to line up against Matthias Sammer.

He said: "I'm looking forward to playing against Matthias because last time I couldn't even foul him, so hopefully I'm going to kick him up in the air, in a nice, friendly way.

"I'm just looking forward to playing in the stadium, hopefully they'll be a lot of people here. Pulling on an England shirt, it don't get no better than that."

Playing alongside Dyer will be the likes of Matt Le Tisser, Paul Merson and Dons manager and England captain for the day,Paul Ince. With an array of talent to compete against, Dyer may be forced out of his favoured striker role and moved to play elsewhere, but that is no problem for the star.

Dyer said: "I'll play anywhere, where ever they put me I'll be there and I'll give it 150 per cent."

The event, which will raise money for the Bobby Moore Fund and the Warwickshire and Northamptonshire Air Ambulance, will start at 3.30pm with Eastenders v TV All Stars, at 5pm Coronation Street will take on Emmerdale. The main event, England v The World starts at 7pm.

What a Prosser!

Trialist joins Dons for Portugal trip – but forgets to tell his Newport boss and doesn't even send a postcard

MATT Prosser is one of the many trialists with MK Dons at the moment, but the striker has forgotten to inform his Newport County boss.

The 20-year-old, who had loan spells with Cwmbran Town, Taunton and Bath City last season, joined Paul Ince's side at the start of pre-season training and even went to Portugal with the team, but Newport boss Peter Beadle insists he knew nothing about it.

Prosser is not currently under contract with Newport, although the club had reached an agreement that the forward would spend the season at Yate Town in the Business League Premier Division to prepare him for a bid to break into the first team.

Beadle said: "I've heard the rumour that he has gone to MK Dons for a trial, but if he has he hasn't told me and Yate haven't rung me up and said he has missed training.

"Obviously he's not under contract with us but it would still be disappointing that he hasn't told me – we certainly wouldn't stand in the way of such an opportunity for a player but the courtesy phone call is a big part of it.

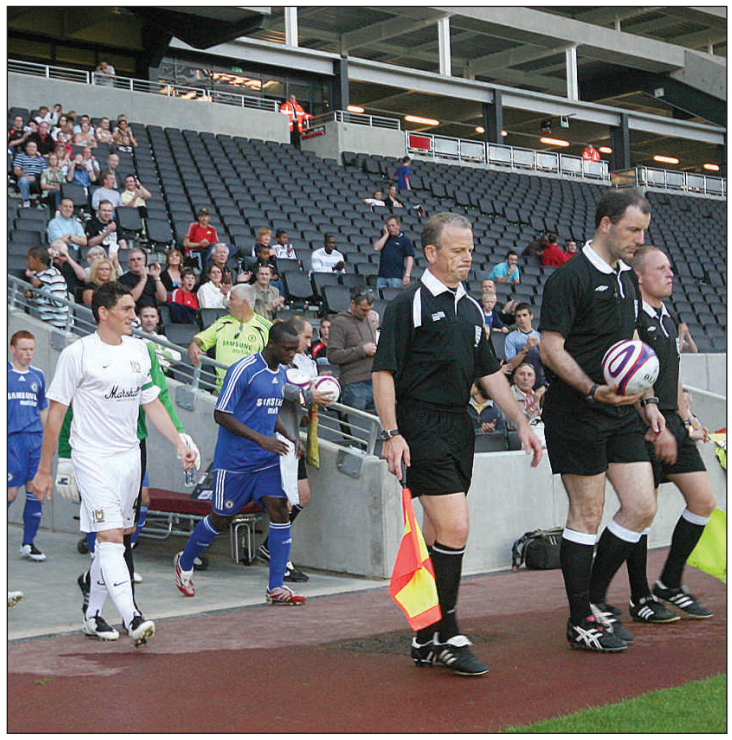
"He's a good lad but maybe he has had his head turned by somebody. We feel it would be in his best interests for him to go to Yate for a season.

"We agreed that since he is only 20 and needs to develop his game, the best way for him to do that is by getting regular first team football for a season.

"He would find it hard to compete with the other strikers here but I have told him he is still very much part of our plans and that getting games under his belt will do him the power of good."

Prosser was one of many trialists to take part in the Dons 0-0 draw with Crawley two weeks ago.

He made just three appearances from the bench for Newport last season and scored one goal, in their 3-1 loss to Thurrock.



Keith Andrews leads the Dons out against Chelsea

Magnificent seven – goals galore in new stadium opener

THE first game at stadium:mk was certainly worth the wait as MK Dons fans were treated to a thrilling 4-3 win against Chelsea XI.

It was an exciting game which saw the Dons fight back from 2-0 down, as well as three penalties and Kevin Gallen score his debut goal.

Although the Chelsea side was lacking the star names many would have hoped to have seen, there was still plenty of talent from the youthful side, including Israeli striker Ben Sahar.

Fans had to wait 30 minutes before they saw the first goal at the multi-million pound stadium and it was Chelsea's Liam Bridcutt's low drive that got the visitors off the mark.

And five minutes later referee Graham Horwood controversially awarded the Blues a penalty when he judged Drissa Diallo had tangled with Phil Younghusband inside the box.

After Younghusband had made it 2-0 the Dons stepped up a gear and former QPR striker Gallen pulled one back as he headed home Lloyd Dyer's cross.

In the last play of the half the Dons were awarded their own penalty, with skipper Keith Andrews converting from the spot to level the scores.

In the second half Paul Ince opted to a complete team change and Izale McLeod wasted no time in adding his name to the score sheet as he beat two recovering defenders and squeezed the ball past the goalkeeper to give the Dons the lead.

Ten minutes later McLeod was brought down in the box and trialist front man Drewe Broughton smashed the ball into the top corner to double their advantage.

But Chelsea showed their quality as Sahar sent a thunderbolt strike past 'keeper Nathan Abbey for a consolation goal.

Almost 5,000 season-ticket holders and guests attended the ramp-up event and will be hoping they witnessed the first of many home wins for the Dons.

MK Dons will hand over all of Wimbledon FC's trophies and artefacts to the London Borough of Merton on Thursday, August 2.

The Chairman of the Football Supporters Federation, Malcolm Clarke, will also hand over a membership certificate to the MK Dons Support Association at 9.30am at the stadium:mk.

Dons Chairman Pete Winkelman will then travel to Merton Civic Centre to sign the deed of transfer which will allow the items, including the replica FA cup from 1988, to go on public display.

MK Dons under-18s will start their new season in the FA Premier Academy League with a trip to Barnsley on Saturday, August 18.

Mike Dove's side will end their season at home to Portsmouth on Saturday, April 12.

Their preparations for the new season have already got underway, having thrashed Ampthill 5-1 last week.

MK Dons have a busy week ahead of them as they play three games in six days.

Tonight, a week after hosting Chelsea, the Dons take on last years Premiership survivors West United United.

It is certainly one of the more interesting ties to have been organised in the Dons pre-season fixtures.

Dons manager Paul Ince, rose through the youth system at West Ham and went on to spend four years with the senior club.

When his controversial move to Manchester United went through in 1989, the Hammers fans were left heartbroken and as a result he has received plenty of vocal harrassment from the claret and blue army ever since.

As he did with the Chelsea game, Ince is expected to field a different side in each half.

Former Arsenal star Freddie Ljungberg is set to make his debut for the Hammers.

Local pride will then be at state as the Dons take on Bedford Town and Newport Pagnell Town, in their return to the grass roots of football. Playing against two non-league sides, the Dons would be expected to win both games by a comfortable margin and with plenty of trialists still with the team they could get a run out.

With the prospect of a big upset, Newport and Bedford will relish being the underdogs.

CRICKET

Wet weekend sees Bray open up a gap

CRICKET was limited this weekend, with most teams still feeling the effects of the recent heavy downpours. The majority of the Morrants Four Counties games were abandoned early, with teams picking up ten points each.

MORRANTS FOUR COUNTIES LEAGUE

DIVISION ONE

EATON Bray took the wet weekend as chance to open a gap at the top of the table by beating Newport Pagnell by 107 runs.

Going in to bat first gave Bray the perfect opportunity to build a strong innings and it was James Flecknell who stepped up as he smashed 75 runs on to the scoreboard.

In a support role Andy Norris added 46, while Newport's Sean Van Eeden did his best to upset by claiming four wickets, but Bray had the upper hand declaring for a challenging 202-6.

In reply Newport failed to threaten the total as Norris also helped out with the ball taking 3-11 as Newport crashed all out for 95, giving Bray 30 points for the win.

THEIR nearest rivals Great Brickhill had to settle for 14 points in a rained off match with Cublington. While North Crawley's Alex Walker saw his knock of 108 wasted as their game against Mentmore was also pulled because of the weather.

Milton Keynes and MK City shared the points as their game also fell to the weather.

DIVISION TWO

THE second division is becoming one of the most closely contested, after Tring Park leapfrogged Aspley Guise to the top of the table.

While Soulsbury's Saj Hussain tried his best to stop Tring, claiming 3-6, Mark Bater his a half century towards the 149 all out score.

In reply Hussain put 30 runs together but they could not match Tring's target and fell five runs short.

Tring picked up 30 points for the win and move 14 points clear at the top.

EDLESBOROUGH claimed a three wicket win over fourth from bottom Studham.

An unbeaten 77 from Richard Blake helped Studham to 197-6 at the end of their innings, but it was Edlesborough's Matthew Merrick who stole the show as he finished 111 not out, and helped them to 25 points.

DESPITE picking up 19 points for a winning draw, Aston Clinton remain mid-table.

They set 217-5 for Old Bradwell to chase, with 70 runs coming from Chris Drakes.

The target proved too much for Bradwell, but Aston Clinton could not dismiss the side and had to settle for the draw.

CHERWELL LEAGUE

MK Park's woes with the bat continued as they struggled to 120 all out against Banbury II.

Skipper Graham Simpson compiled 39 of the home team's score with Mike Alston hitting 22 and James Sprittles' 21, being the only other batsmen to look comfortable after Banbury had won the toss and inserted Park.

For Banbury, the seam of Ed Smith, who claimed 3-36 and the off-spin of Jimmy Phillips, 4-22, did the damage.

In reply, Banbury found scoring tough in the gloomy conditions, with Mark Roberts picking up the wicket of skipper Wayne Hazell early on.

At 26-1, in the 13th over, the dark skies gave way to a heavy downpour and any prospect of play continuing was soon lost with both teams settling for 10 points.

This weekend Park travel to Banbury XX with the prospect of doing the league double over their opponents.

ATHLETICS

Rutherford back

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

AFTER months out with injuries, Greg Rutherford made his long-awaited return to athletics and already has his eyes set on World Championship qualification.

The Milton Keynes long jumper came back from an ankle injury to take part in a warm-up for the UK Championships and he showed no signs of loss of form, claiming third place in Tallin, Estonia.

The 20-year-old made a clearance of 7.96 metres, behind Jamaica's James Beckford who jumped 8.35m and Olekiv Lukashevych who claimed second with 8.02m.

Rutherford, a European long jump silver medallist, is now looking to win at the Norwich Union World Trials this Friday, but he faces a tough challenge from fellow Briton Chris Tomlinson.

Rutherford said: "I would only have entered the trials if I believed I could win, which I am quietly confident of doing. This will be a crucial event for me as it is the selection for Oska in Japan."

Last year Rutherford was forced to retire from the Norwich Union International through injury and despite having several pain-killing injections in his right ankle, Rutherford underwent surgery in February.

He added: "I have had a mixed 12 months having come off the high of winning silver at the Europeans last August to having then been blighted by injury.

"I"m only now looking at competing this year."

Rutherford was due to compete again last month, only for a minor injury to hold him back, but now he is ready for the big stage, he said: "Winning the European silver was the highlight of my career and I've proved I can produce big jumps when it matters.

"I aim to qualify for the Worlds and will go in with confidence in my fitness and ability.

"Once there, I aim to win my second major international medal."

■ JOEY Duck was eliminated from the 200metres, at the European Junior Championships, in the semi-finals with fifth place in 24.42 seconds.

After the race Duck, now being coached by former Commonwealth champion Mike McFarlane, said: "I'm gutted, it was my fault, and I didn't drive hard enough.

"Next year's my year, the world junior, I'll be ready for that."

The next day Duck's spirits were uplifted as she claimed second place in the 4x400m relay, an event she has only run once before.

■ THE opening of the refurbished eight-lane track at Stantonbury will be used to host the final match of the UK Women's League this year on Sunday, August 4.

The first event of the afternoon is at 12pm with the first track event taking place an hour later.

BOXING

Win a pair of Ricky Hatton's signed gloves

BOXING superstar Ricky 'The Hitman' Hatton has provided a boost for the Mayor Cllr Mike Barry's Air Ambulance Appeal by donating a signed picture and pair of boxing gloves to be auctioned off to raise funds.

The current World Light Welterweight Champion will personally hand over the items when he appears in "An Evening with Ricky Hatton" at the Park Inn in Northampton on Friday, September 21 at 7.30pm.

Hatton will talk about his life, his boxing, his rise to the top, his most famous victories and his future plans.

The evening, which will be supported by comedian Tony Gerrard, will also include video clips of his greatest fights and there will be some surprise celebrity fans also attending to pay tribute to the boxing great.

Manx success

MILTON Keynes-based driver Supradip Dey Roy and co-driver Max Hall had a successful weekend as they competed the double-header Isle of Man Stars Rally.

Roy and Hall brought home their 1400cc MG ZR sixth overall and third in the FIA class in round four of the British Rally Championship Stars 1400 Championship, before finishing fifth overall and second in class in round five on Saturday.

The crew endured no drama as they posted a consistent performance throughout the weekend across the infamous tarmac stages on the island.

They did, however, have to battle through without the use of a handbrake on the tight corners and suffered a problem with the brakes on Friday.

Following the results from the two rounds on the Isle of Man, the pair are now in second place in the championship table and second in the FIA class standings.

Roy said: "I'm happy to have got to the end and picked-up the valuable points in the championship.

"I wasn't very happy with my times, at the end of the day I realise I can do much better, but I played it safe to reach the finish on both days and the results have put us in an excellent position in the championship, which I'm pleased with."

Double hit for Red Bull

The crew cheers as Mark Webber crosses the line

RED Bull Racing doubled their points tally and grabbed their second ever podium at the European Grand Prix.

This time it was Australian driver Mark Webber who claimed a spot on the podium after a strong weekend at the wheel saw him through to third place.

But team mate David Coulthard was not far behind, as he crossed the chequered flag in fifth place, it was the first time this season that both drivers have been in the points.

After all the reliability questions that have hung over Red Bull's RB3 this season, it was remarkable both cars finished in one of the most dramatic races in recent years.

Just minutes into the race heavy rainfall caused havoc on the track, with six cars sliding straight off on the first corner, even Coulthard survived a spin on the first lap.

Four laps in and the race was red flagged and continued 30 minutes later when the chaotic weather had cleared.

Stopping the race proved extremely helpful for the Red Bull drivers as Coulthard, who qualified at the back of the grid, pushed up to fourth place and Webber moved in to third.

For a moment on the final lap it looked as if Webber was going to be overtaken by Alexander Wurz, but he held on to equal his best result in Formula One, while Coulthard rounded off a satisfying day for Red Bull in fifth place.

Speaking after the race, Webber said: "This is a podium I can enjoy on a special day for us.

"The team deserves it after all the effort that has taken place behind the scenes. It's great to get some points on the board, especially as David finished fifth as well.

"The FIA took the right decisions in bringing out the Safety Car and then suspending the race."

He added: "Towards the end I began to think I had it in the bag, but I thought 'oh God' when I saw the rain coming again. In the final part I had massive vibration from the rear tyres and that's why Alex got so close."

The successful weekend means Red Bull now leapfrog ahead of Toyto to go sixth in the Constructors Championship with 16 points.

Coulthard said: "I'm very happy for the team. It's obviously been a difficult start to the year with some reliability issues, but nonetheless to show the pace we did in this race was good and the calls we made on strategy were a credit to the team.

"After such a bad qualifying, it was only ever going to be a change of conditions like these that was going to give us a chance to move forward and we ended with a podium and a fifth

Dons sign target man Broughton

MK Dons are continuing to strengthen their striking attack, with the addition of Drewe Broughton to the side.

The former Peterborough United front man passed a medical yesterday evening and quickly put pen to paper to seal a one-year-deal with the option of a futher year.

Last season he spent seven months on loan to Boston United, and turned down a move to Bury to join Paul Ince's side.

Broughton has similar attributes to that of Platt, who left the club a month ago for Colchester United, with a 6ft 3ins frame he will become a key target man for the Dons next season.

The 28-year-old was one of the star performers in the Dons 4-3 win against Chelsea XI and even got his name on the score sheet when he confidently scored from the penalty spot.

The signing could pave way for Izale McLeod to leave the club.

There has been increased speculation about the striker's future, with Championship sides Leicester City and Charlton Athletic reportedly interested.

Chairman Pete Winkelman said: "At the end of the day, Izale could still be with us at the start of the season, who knows.

"On the other hand Izale could leave quite quickly.

"It's important for him, as it's a big, big move for him and he needs to get that right."
